GREER STATION ASSOCIATION UNVEILS “TANKERS ON TRADE” PUBLIC ART PROJECT

(Greer, South Carolina) The Greer Station Association is pleased to unveil the Greer community’s second annual public art project, “Tankers on Trade”.

The “Tankers on Trade” public art project is a partnership of the Greer Station Association; the individual restaurants, retailers, and service providers in Greer’s Hip and Historic Downtown; the City of Greer; the Partnership for Tomorrow; and 5 supporting corporate sponsors and local artists including:

Sponsor

1. BB&T Bank
2. City of Greer
3. D&D Motors
4. Greer Memorial Hospital
5. Langford Electric, Inc.

Artist

1. Laura and Robert Nance
2. Pat Cato
3. Ed Yates
4. Ronnie Mark and Chris Todd
5. Blake Langford and Jessica Ott

Sponsors and artists worked together to decorate five 4’x16”x18” fiberglass replica train tankers that celebrate Greer’s rich history as an important railroad stop and the businesses that now make up the Greer community. The decorated tankers will be on public display for a year, at which time they will be auctioned off at a charitable event, and all proceeds will benefit the Greer Heritage Museum and the Greer Station Association.

Maps and additional information regarding all five tankers and their locations will be available beginning March 14th at each of the restaurants, stores, and service providers in Greer’s Hip and Historic Downtown; at the Greer Chamber of Commerce, at the Greer Heritage Museum, and at Greer City Hall.
